Dear Derby and Derbyshire Headteacher, Principal and Designated Safeguarding Lead,

Female Genital Mutilation (FGM) and Forced Marriage

I would like to bring to your attention the concerns arising at this time of year related to the upcoming school holidays, and to share relevant links to resources to assist your staff in keeping girls safe from FGM and both girls and boys from Forced Marriage and other forms of so-called 'honour-based' abuse. In addition, new legislation has also made it an offence to:

- carry out, offer or aid and abet virginity testing and hymenoplasty, and
- cause a child under the age of 18 to enter a marriage in any circumstances, without the need to prove that a form of coercion was used. This includes non-legally binding 'traditional' ceremonies which would still be viewed as marriages by the parties and their families.

Unfortunately, in Derby and Derbyshire we are still seeing women who have experienced FGM presenting at our local Hospitals. We are also seeing increasing concerns around forced marriage, in which one or more of the parties is married without their consent or against their will and where duress is a factor.

We ask that schools remain vigilant to the potential that their pupils or students may be at risk or have been subject to FGM and/or Forced Marriage and /or other forms of so-called 'honour-based' abuse, including virginity testing and hymenoplasty.

Any information that a female child or young woman is at risk of or has undergone FGM and / or where there are concerns about a child or young person being at risk of, or subject to, forced marriage or any other form of so-called 'honour-based' abuse must result in a referral to local authority Children's Social Care.

Where it is thought there is an immediate risk of FGM, practitioners should be alert to the need to act quickly before the child is abused through the FGM procedure in the UK or taken abroad to undergo the procedure.

Classification: OFFICIAL

In addition, all practitioners working with suspected or actual victims of forced marriage and associated so-called 'honour-based' abuse need to be aware of the "one chance" rule. That is, they may only have one opportunity to speak to a victim or potential victim and may possibly only have one chance to save a life.

Whenever a child or young person is in immediate danger ring the police on 999.

All practitioners working within all agencies need to be aware of their responsibilities and obligations when they are faced with FGM, forced marriage and so-called 'honour-based' abuse cases.

Remember you can always seek advice via Derby Children's Services Professional Consultation Line or Derbyshire Starting Point Consultation and Advice Service for Professionals.

A mandatory reporting duty for FGM also requires regulated health and social care professionals and teachers¹ in England and Wales to report known cases of FGM in under 18-year-olds to the police.

Further information about local and national information and resources on FGM, forced marriage and so-called 'honour-based' abuse can be found at the end of this letter.

Could you please cascade this information amongst your staff and ensure they are fully aware of their responsibility to protect girls and boys from these forms of child abuse, which are illegal in the UK, and that this responsibility extends to children taken overseas.

Yours sincerely,

Mark Sobey
